Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Sewer Negotiations Demand United Front in Glendale

THE next definite step towards the securing of adequate sewer facilities will be taken on May 21. On this day the Los Angeles city council will take a final vote on the proposition. We are assured that at this time the entire Los Angeles city council is favorable towards granting Glendale's request.

Whether it continues in this attitude until the final vote is an open question, which question can be answered by our own citizens.

If the citizenship of Glendale as a whole will work in a loyal manner towards securing the support of the Los Angeles council there is no doubt but that we can get the facilities.

* * *

THIS is one time when all factions should unite forces and use all influence to solve the sewer question for all time. It can ne done. Will you help do it?

* * *

WE have always thought and often said that the only obstacle in the path of Glendale's growth was a lack of factories, to give employment to our rapidly increasing population. That this situation is rapidly clearing is again emphasized by the announcement made today of the leasing of a nine-acre plot of ground to the Rogers Unit Drive Motor Truck company.

This company intends at this time to construct one unit of the proposed plant, to cost, including machinery, approximately $200,000. About 600 people will be employed, with a daily payroll of $4500. The plant is to be located on San Fernando boulevard at Colorado.

We feel confident that this is just the beginning and in a very short time our industrial section will be filled with industries.

If given the opportunity we can demonstrate to the manufacturing concerns the many benefits we have to offer them in Glendale, such as cheap power, soft water moderate climate and contented workmen.

CHALK up another organization in favor of the old high school grounds, for a civic center. Last evening the West End Improvement Association went on record in favor of it.

In fact it went further than recommending the proposition. The association passed resolutions urging both the city council and the high school trustees to take immediate steps toward this end.

BOYS' BAND IS NEW DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNITY SERVICE

Members of the board of education were in session until nearly midnight Tuesday evening, most of the time being consumed in the discussion of problems before that body though no action was taken. The reports of committees delegated to negotiate for land the board desires to purchase were submitted and they were instructed to continue their work and report at the next meeting.

Architect Alfred Priest submitted perfected plans for the Glendale Avenue Intermediate which were approved.

The board acted favorably on a request from Community Service for permission to organize a boys' band which will rehearse once a week after school and be directed by Howard Cavanah who will give his services.

Bids for kindergarten, penmanship, art and other supplies were received and laid over for checking and further consideration.

A request from local labor unions was also laid over for further consideration.

E. E. Smith and A. J. Gray appeared before the board to explain the system of thrift savings in the schools of Los Angeles, which the board agreed to take under consideration.

TUESDAY OFFICERS NOMINATED

Forty Applicants for Membership Are Received by Organization

CARNIVAL MAKES $700

John Robert White Gives Interesting Talk on Oriental Rugs

The fine collection of rugs with which the stage of the Tuesday Afternoon Club auditorium was set for the regular meeting of Tuesday afternoon gave it the appearance of a beautiful Oriental bazaar, and the story which John Robert White had to tell of the remote origin of rug weaving, the significance of colors and designs, the materials that entered into them and the manner in which they are made, proved of intense interest.

Preceding the address was the usual community sing led by Mr. Kirchofer and a business session which Mrs. A. H. Montgomery as first vice-president, conducted in the absence of Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

At that session the matters of chief interest were the candidates for office for the coming year as reported by Mrs. Frank Ayars, chairman of the nominating committee. This showed that nominating ballots had returned to office all of the present staff except the recording secretary, Mrs. John C. Dunn, who declined to be a candidate because she has been chosen as recording secretary for the district federation of women's clubs under Mrs. Charles H. Toll. Also there are two vacancies to be filled in the directorate. Two candidates were named for the recording secretaryship—Mrs. William Hunter and Mrs. G. H. Rowe. Four candidates were named for directors, Mesdames Lillian Dow, Benjamin Holbrook, E. S. McKee and J. E. Sargent. The ticket on which members will ballot at the next meeting aside from the offices mentioned will therefore be:

President—Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

First vice-president—Mrs. A. H. Montgomery.

Second vice-president—Mrs. C. H. Houston.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. Frank C. Ayars.

Treasurer—Mrs. M. E. Plasterer.

The names of more than forty applicants for membership were read by the secretary, and the report of the by-laws revision committee on which action will be taken at the next meeting, was reported by Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward. Under this head the only discussion concerned the proposed increase of the life membership fee from $100 to $250, so great an increase being opposed by Mesdames E. W. Hayward, C. L. Peckham, Ella Richardson and Harry Greenwalt. It was finally tabled on motion of Mrs. Brandstater.

The opening of the Chautauqua on Friday of the present week was announced by Mrs. Greenwalt, who introduced Miss Mary Dalton, advance manager who will be in charge of Chautauqua while it is here. Miss Dalton explained the purpose of the movement and appealed for its support by Glendale.

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery turned in to the club treasury a check for $800, representing earnings of various groups during the past two weeks, $700 having been realized from the Carnival of Months.

Announcements of various club activities were made including section meetings, and also announcements of gifts and appeals were made for the sale of auditorium chairs.

Mr. White was then introduced, and his talk was followed by a beautifully executed Oriental dance by Adelaide Cook, a pupil of the Pearl Keller School.

Mr. White explained that the origin of textile weaving was lost in remote ages, the earliest record being the pictures found on the walls of tombs in Egypt and elsewhere dating back 2600 B. C. years or more.

These were made of the materials available, first grass and rushes with which the cave dwellers carpeted their abodes. Then, as civilization advanced the cotton they grew and the wool from their flocks were employed, vegetable dyes being used to produce the desired colors, these colors having a spiritual significance as did also many of the designs. Because China was the pioneer in silk production, it was the first to make silk rugs, but the various invasions and migrations in the Orient distributed the knowledge though few of them were made except for the mosques or the abode of kings.

He explained the meanings of some of the stereotyped patterns of which he showed examples and how they had been handed down from generation to generation, also pointing out the characteristics of the Caucasian, Turkoman, Persian, Turkish and Chinese rugs.

The most remarkable rug in the world, he said, is in the Victoria and Albert Museum and is a Per-

BOYS' BAND TO BE FORMED IN THE SCHOOLS

Community Service Suggestion Is Accepted by Board

Community Service of Glendale is organizing a Boys' Band. The invitation is extended to all boys in the city who are interested.

There will be no charge for membership. Mr. Howard E. Cavanah has generously volunteered to direct the band without obligation to members.

The band will meet for rehearsal at the Wilson Avenue School Thursday of each week at 4 o'clock, beginning May 17. All boys interested in playing are urged to be at the first meeting.

Beginners are invited to join. However, a boy, after selecting the instrument he wants to play, will have to arrange with some private instructor for lessons until he is able to read music. No time of the band rehearsals can be given to teaching an individual boy how to play.

The idea in forming the band is to provide a community organization where boys playing instruments can have a chance for work under an experienced director.

Boys may register at the Community Service headquarters in the chamber of commerce, 150 S. Brand boulevard.

PLAN ORNAMENTAL LIGHTS THROUGH GLENDALE AVE.

Reported Many Property Owners Enthusiastic on Subject

A movement is on foot for the establishment of an ornamental lighting system on Glendale avenue. Chairman Stewart of the lighting committee of the Glendale Advancement association stated this morning that the owners of property on the north end of Glendale avenue are enthusiastically in favor of the lights and that a large majority of the property owners along the entire stretch to be affected are in favor of having the proposed lights installed.

The present plan is to have the lights installed at the same time the paving of Glendale avenue is done, both of the jobs to be completed at about the same time. It is understood the matter of paving this street will be brought up at the meeting of the Glendale Advancement association Thursday noon, at which time a definite plan of action will probably be outlined.

The placing of a large overhead light similar to the one at Brand and Broadway at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway and Glendale and Colorado, is also being considered by the lighting committee of the Advancement association. These are two of the heaviest traveled corners in Glendale and the people of that eastern section believe the city council should place the desired lights over these street intersections without delay.

The type of standard that will be selected for Glendale avenue has not, of course, been decided upon, but it is believed that a majority of the property owners on the avenue lean toward the strictly modern standards that have just been completed on San Fernando road. The suggestion that the five-light standards such as are on Brand boulevard and Broadway be installed is not being received with much enthusiasm, the general opinion being that they are out of date so far as efficiency and beauty are concerned.

GLENDALE K. C. TO DANCE MAY 12

The Glendale Council Knights of Columbus will have one of their regular dances at their club house Saturday, May 12.

Their dances have proven very popular showing a very large attendance and everybody having a good time—young and old, and it has been a noticeable fact that the older members have remained until the last strains of the music died away.

An added attraction for this dance is that the Glendale council's orchestra of eight pieces will furnish the music; this alone will promise a real treat to those who attend and a very large crowd is anticipated to give the K. of C. orchestra a fitting welcome at their initial performance.

LOVELL HOME IS ENTERED BY BURGLAR

Thieves entered the home of J. E. Lovell, 120 South Isabel street, between 8 and 12 o'clock Tuesday night, and when they left they took with them $7 in change. No clew has yet been found as to the identity of the light-fingered artist.

ROGERS UNIT DRIVE TRUCK CORPORATION TO MANUFACTURE HERE

Leases Nine Acres for 98 Years at West End of Colorado Street on San Fernando Road for Initial Unit of Big Motor Factory

ROY L. KENT BRINGS BIG INDUSTRY TO CITY

Plant to Be Moved to Glendale From Sunnyvale, California, With a Daily Payroll of Approximately $4500, It Is Said

The Rogers Unit Drive Motor Truck corporation is the latest manufacturing institution to lease land in Glendale. It has just signed a 98-year lease on nine acres of ground at the west end of Colorado, upon which it will begin at once the construction of the first unit of its plant, this section to cost about $100,000.

It is understood that work will be rushed on this first unit and that when placed in operation it will employ about 600 people. When this unit is finished the company will move its present plant, which is located at Sunnyvale, California, to Glendale. This plant will have 150,000 square feet of floor space. The daily pay roll will be about $4,500.

The machinery that will be placed in these buildings will be of the most modern type procurable. It will cost about $100,000.

This company manufactures a 3½ and 5-ton four-wheel drive truck which is the very last word in a conveyance of this kind. It also manufactures a low down front wheel drive truck for short hauls. The output of the first unit will be two trucks daily.

This company will employ American citizens only and men of family will be given first consideration. As there will not be sufficient skilled workmen in Glendale it will be necessary to import expert mechanics from the auto manufacturing centers of the country.

Within a short time this company will open an operating office in this city and from this the plans and the details in connection with the construction of the plant will be directed.

This concern was located in Glendale by the Roy L. Kent company, which deals extensively in industrial lands.

H. C. Powell is treasurer and secretary of the company. He expects to move here within a very short time.

BROTHERHOOD OF MAN NEEDED IN THE WORLD

Realization Would Solve Problems Say the Congregationalists

Good audiences attended and enjoyed the Tuesday Afternoon and evening sessions of the Southern California Congregational conference, held in the First Congregational church where the final session was held this morning.

The short addresses of the afternoon on topics of live interest to Congregationalists, particularly clergymen, were followed with close attention, and the evening program proved highly enjoyable.

The organ recital by A. E. Angier consisting of four numbers, brought out the fine qualities of the new organ, and the harp solo by Miss Lois Welch won much sincere applause.

Following the general topic of the conference, "Christ in the World Today," special addresses were made by Dr. Frederick L. Fagley on "Christ in Industry," and by Rev. Oswald McCall of Berkeley, on "Christ in International Relationships."

Both declared that only a realization of the brotherhood of man and of the principles laid down and practiced by Jesus Christ could solve the problems of industrial life and world relations. Dr. McCall stressed the necessity for fellowship between nations and declared the only ground for optimism could be found in the growing respect for the principles of Christianity. He expressed the opinion that the United States had not taken the place it ought to hold in world affairs, and that it has exposed itself to the just criticism of the world for evasion of its responsibilities, when it might have been helping to save the world.

The annual increases in the salaries of teachers from $75 to $100 a year was voted and the list of teachers on the present staff to be re-employed next year, was agreed upon.

GLENDALE YOUTH TO ENTER THE MINISTRY

Ray C. Krug to Be Ordained This Evening at the Presbyterian Church

A service of unusual interest will be held at the Glendale Presbyterian church this evening. Ray C. Krug, of 1311 East Harvard street, will be ordained to the gospel ministry. The services will be conducted by a commission of ministers appointed by L. A. Presbytery. Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood will preside and propound the constitutional questions. Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the local church, will read the Scripture lesson. Rev. H. H. Fisher, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, will preach the ordination sermon. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, will give the charge to the candidate. The prayer of ordination will be offered by Rev. A. B. Pritchard, D. D., pastor of the Vermont Avenue Presbyterian church. At the conclusion of the service the benediction will be pronounced by the newly ordained minister, Rev. Ray C. Krug. This service is one of the most beautiful and impressive of all the services of the Presbyterian church.

The church quartet, which is made up of Miss Elizabeth Mottern, soprano; Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, contralto; Dr. P. O. Lucas, tenor; and Robert S. Maile, baritone, will sing "When Morning Gilds the Skies," an old Italian melody, and "The Earth is the Lord's," by Adams. Mrs. Retts will also sing a gospel solo.

Ray C. Krug, the candidate for ordination, is a Glendale boy and has been a member of the local church since boyhood. He is a product of the Glendale schools and also a graduate of Occidental College. He recently graduated from San Francisco Theological Seminary. The members of the local church are much interested in Mr. Krug as he has been connected with the church here for a long time, beginning in the lower grades of the Sunday school, and now after completing his education he returns to his mother church to be ordained to the office of the gospel ministry. He is well known to many of the older residents of Glendale and has many friends here.

Mr. Krug is under appointment as a missionary to China under the care of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. As soon as his plans are completed he and his wife and young son expect to sail for China. Another pleasing feature of the service this evening will be that the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Krug will be dedicated to the Lord in the ordinance of baptism.

COLLINS IS HELD IN $1000 BAIL FOR TRIAL

Original Charge of Driving While Drunk Is Withdrawn

Herbert L. Collins of 807 East Wilson was held by Judge Lowe yesterday to appear before the superior court on a charge of striking a pedestrian with his automobile without stopping to render assistance. His bail was fixed at $1000 and a bond to this amount was furnished.

Mr. Collins was originally charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, but during the preliminary hearing Tuesday afternoon no evidence was produced to show that he had been drinking.

As Mr. Collins was not put on the witness stand no reason was given for the breaking of the Southern Pacific gates by his machine. The towerman, it is stated, waved frantically with a lantern as the car driven by Collins approached, but notwithstanding this, it is declared, the machine was driven through the gates, knocking the towerman down as it speeded across the tracks.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Tonight and Thursday, fair and cooler; light westerly winds.

CENTRAL WEST DOES NOT ADMIT SUMMER HAS COME TO STAY

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, May 9.—Unseasonable cold, which sent the thermometer down to freezing and was accompanied by snow flurries continues today to bring shivers to the entire central west, but the weather bureau sees relief immediately ahead.

The cold will continue today, according to the weather report, with even lower temperatures in the lower great lakes region, the upper Ohio Valley and the Atlantic states.

Snow yesterday was reported as far south as Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana and other central states sent reports that the flurries at times assumed proportions of a winter blizzard.

The northern section of Wisconsin told of a three-inch snow fall.

On the other hand isolated spots in the southwest and on the Pacific coast experienced unseasonably hot weather.

Back into the central west, at Chicago, this morning an inch of snow fell, and the temperature is slightly below freezing.

The central west apparently was hardest hit by the momentary return of winter, upper Winconsin, the northern Michigan peninsula, Minnesota, Northern Nebraska and South Dakota and Iowa being the chief sufferers.

Improvement Ass'n. Votes Unanimously for Purchase by the City

CHANGES ARE URGED

Comes Out for Junior Plan for System of Education in Glendale

Reorganization of the present school system in Glendale and the taking of immediate steps for the provision of a junior and senior high school system and the proper facilities, the securing of the present high school buildings and grounds for a civic center and the use of funds thus obtained for the erection of a junior high school plant in the northwest section of Glendale were the important features of a discussion at the business meeting of the West Glendale Improvement association and resulted in the unanimous adoption of the following resolutions:

Whereas, the present school system of Glendale is not designed to properly take care of the school needs of a city having a population of 40,000 or more, and

Whereas, the population of the city of Glendale is now rapidly approaching that mark, and re-organization of the system into a junior and senior high school plan is imperative, and

Whereas, the new high school will be completed next September, and will greatly facilitate this change of system;

Therefore, be it resolved by the West Glendale Improvement association, in meeting assembled this eighth day of May, 1923, that:

The school boards of the city immediately take steps for such re-organization as will provide the junior and senior high school system and the proper facilities for putting the same into effect at the earliest possible date.

Be it further resolved that: A copy of this resolution be sent to the high school board and to the grammar school board of Glendale.

Whereas, the city of Glendale, now having a population of 40,000 or more, is greatly in need of a civic center, and

Whereas, the buildings and grounds to be vacated on the completion of the new high school would make an ideal civic center;

Therefore, be it resolved by the West Glendale Improvement association in the meeting here assembled this eighth day of May, 1923, that:

That city council be, and is hereby requested to make all reasonable effort to secure said buildings and grounds by option or otherwise

C. of C. Directors Consider Various Matters at Meeting

That at least 20,000 booklets descriptive of Glendale should be published by the Glendale chamber of commerce was the unanimous opinion of the board of directors of that organization in session Tuesday noon. Mr. McCormack of the publicity committee, reported that it will cost $200 for cuts and art work, $100 for the preparing of the reading matter for the booklet, which work is going on at this time, and the remaining $200 which was voted to cover the cost of the booklet, would provide about 3,000 copies.

The very mention of 3,000 copies brought forth a storm of protests, in which several of the board members took part. It was stated that at least 20,000 would be required to take care of the needs of the Merchants' Exposition alone.

An invitation was received from the Van Nuys chamber of commerce to have two members of the local board attend the Wardlaw testimonial, which will be held at that city on May 10. Directors Campbell and Kitterman were appointed to represent the chamber on this occasion.

MISS ORFF HEADS CLUB OF WOMEN

Elected President of Business Organization of Glendale

DR. RUSSELL SPEAKS

Tells of Visits in China, Japan and Korea as a Medical Missionary

At the annual business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club held Tuesday evening in the rooms of the Glendale Commercial school, 224 South Brand, officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President, Miss Corinne Orff; first vice-president, Mrs. Mary Baxter; recording secretary, Miss Ethel Ford; corresponding secretary, Miss Lucile Crowell; treasurer, Mrs. Anita Anderson; auditor, Miss Grace Osborne; vice-president at large, Dr. Laura Brown.

Eight cabinet members to head standing committees: Mrs. Ethel Ruddell, Mrs. Loretta Williams, Miss Myrtle Knapp, Miss Julia Moniot, Miss Edan Platt, Miss Alice McCoy, Miss Helen Tupper, and Dr. Elizabeth Early. These cabinet members were named as the eight delegates to represent the club at the annual meeting and dinner of the county federation.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Riley Russell, who is on the staff of the Glendale Sanitarium, and who gave an intensely interesting talk on Korea, its relation to China and Japan, based on personal knowledge and observation. He first visited Korea in 1900, and has spent most of his life in the East as a medical missionary fighting the scourges of cholera, typhus, smallpox and other dread diseases for which vaccines have been produced which place them in a measure under control.

He described Korea as a country which some one had said was prairie covered with mountains, the peaks being low with valleys between, few of them more than 10 miles wide, and the hills covered with a low growth of pines making them resemble the chaparral covered hills of Southern California. A productive area only about one-third as large as the state of California has to support a population of 17 millions. It was a hermit nation until 1888 and its history runs back 3500 years, its first king having been expelled from China with 300 followers. The Chinese characters used in writing and printing obtain here as in Japan, though the spoken language is so different that the peoples of the three countries cannot understand each other. Moveable type for printing was made in Korea 150 years before it was introduced into Europe. The speaker indicated that the civilization it might have developed had been wrecked by graft.

He described the dwellings of Koreans, their food, chiefly unpolished rice, the scarcity of good drinking water, and unsanitary conditions which promote epidemics and bring patients to the 22 hospitals maintained by Americans and Europeans, indicating that the hospital he built and superintended cared for 17,228 patients, no other hospital being nearer than 100 miles.

The talk was delightfully informal and spontaneous, and the club released Dr. Russell with regret and the hope that he would address them again.

sian product made in the year 1540. He exhibited a reproduction of a 15th century rug made in Glasgow which had been copied with marvelous fidelity.

He declared the fact that a rug is Oriental does not mean anything unless it has the first essential—beauty.

He closed by calling attention to some very beautiful modern Chinese rugs which are now being manufactured especially to please the taste of western nations.

It was a big subject well handled and the only regret on the part of the audience was the lack of opportunity to more closely inspect the beautiful samples and to talk with Mr. White about them.

YOUTH HAS WON 54 SCOUT MEDALS

Thomas W. McConville, of Washington, D. C., is the greatest all-round American Boy Scout, wearing on his sleeve 54 of the merit badges awarded by the organization. The 17-year-old youth joined Troop 100 in 1917 and won his first merit badge, for handicraft, in 1919. In 1920 he became a Life and Star Scout and immediately started working for the highest scout honor, that of Eagle Scout, which he attained in September, 1920.

THE TIMID RATTLER

By JOHN BRECK

Timid? Of course he is. Did you ever suspect that he of the lethal tooth set off his buzzer before your approaching step out of any consideration for your feelings? Certainly not. The only feelings he has any regard for are his own. His fang is no weapon of offense, but a mere tribute to his indolence—it saves him the trouble of pursuing his prey, or of coming to "coil to kick" quarters with it to the detriment of his precious hide. Because Mr. Wood-rat has a razor-edge to his tushes, and Mr. Jackrabbit's got a powerful sharp toe-nail. No, the right interpretation of his warning is merely, "Don't tread on me!"

But if treading were all Senor Crotalus had to fear, why should he keep silent as his own sly game until danger is imminently threatening before he bursts forth his blare, with all the protesting vehemence of a scream? It isn't on account of his dull hearing; the wave receptors between his belly-scales catch the vibrant pat of feet long before they are audible to the sharpest ear. Can it be that any creature besides ourselves actually has the temerity to hunt him in his turn? It can be, and it is. His perils do not end even when he has outgrown a size which tucks comfortably into the craw of that feathered bane of baby vipers, the road-runners. He is a popular item in Don Coyote's bill of fare.

Is he shrinking from careless hoofs or from acquisitive jaws when he piles himself into that dappled rosette of coils, with head and tail a-quiver like osprey sprays from the center of it? For so long as he keeps that pose Don Coyote dare not meddle with him. Once he unwinds, he is safe meat; the trick is, to get him unwound. Just beyond striking reach, those flashing paws dance round and round and round him. He follows them with his eye—an eye far more fascinated than fascinating. If he is lured into letting out a coil or two, the chances are that he will get scared and start to crawl; and the minute he straightens out he is deftly pinned behind where his ears aren't.

But suppose his loose end snaps back tighter than a watch spring. Is Don Coyote discouraged? Not at all. Having lost his pawn, he plays his knight. He turns his bushy, tooth-proof tail on his victim; he splatters him with sand and pebbles urged by vigorous paws. Senor Crotalus stands it as long as he can. At last the indignity swells up within him stronger than his fear. He launches a stroke at that quivering bush, a full foot short of those busy hind legs. He slaps the ground hard as a weighted rope's end, and as straight. And the ants explore the crannies of his cavernous grin next morning. Don Coyote, having imbibed rattlesnake cunning by consuming rattlesnake heart, acocrding to the Indian custom, foots it confidently off in search of another one.

cessful. C. D. Lusby, chairman of this committee, stated, however, that he is hopeful of effecting a compromise in the matter.

It was decided to have a committee of five members appointed from the board to assist the committee that will work with Mr. Baer of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce in putting over a campaign for new members soon.

It was decided to cancel all memberships to the chamber when they have become 6 months in arrears, a notice to be sent to the delinquent member when he or she is three months behind in payments.

An invitation was received from the Baker Iron Works, which has secured the contract for the steel for the new bank building at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, to the board to attend a banquet which that company will give in the near future. The board members present signified their willingness to attend this affair. The publicity manager of the Baker company stated in his letter to the chamber that the publicity that Glendale will secure from this event will be worth at least $50,000 to the city.

The board decided to endeavor to sell 25 tickets for the benefit that will be given by the Glendale Music Club for Miss Hazel Linkogel, who will leave for the east shortly to complete her studies on the violin.

Secretary Sanders read a letter from the authorities in Washington stating that it is impossible for Glendale to copyright the slogan, "The fastest growing city in America." This step would have been taken, if possible, in order that Long Beach, which is now using the same slogan, might be compelled to refrain from using it.

NEW DEPARTMENT STORE TO OPEN IN GLENDALE

Ferber Company to Establish First of Six Banches Here

The first of a large chain of department stores to be operated on a high class basis in six different Southern California cities is to be opened in Glendale Thursday, when the Ferber company, locating at 108 South Brand boulevard, will open its doors to Glendale buyers at 10 a. m.

"The Ferber company, Inc., is organized with a capital of $250,000," stated C. H. McBurney, manager of the local store. "It has the moral and financial support of stock holders in New York City, Glendale and Los Angeles, with millions behind them providing for all future expansions.

"We are the first company to operate a chain of department stores in the Southern California field, and we will operate in the medium sized cities only. Beginning with ready-to-wear, we intend to cover every branch of the department store work.

"Our 1923 plans cover stores in Glendale, Fullerton, Pasadena, Long Beach, Anaheim and Santa Ana. We chose Glendale as the location of our first store, because the business prospects are all that could be desired here, and I believe, somewhat superior to the other cities mentioned.

"Our motto, as customers will soon learn, is 'working today for tomorrow,' and for this reason, we will carry none but the newest merchandise, fresh goods coming in constantly, and the latest styles to be found in our garments, through purchases made at our New York buying office.

"Our stores will embody the big city methods, and because of our buying powers which is equal to those of any Los Angeles store, we are going to give the Glendale people the benefit of some very attractive prices. We have at the present time a very well organized corps of buyers on the job at all times in New York, and this fact enables us to offer for home purchasing, the same class of merchandise, fresh from New York leaders and manufacturers throughout the United States at as low a price as they may be bought in much larger centers of population."

Mr. McBurney is an experienced merchandiser of Los Angeles. He is planning to bring his family here and make his home in Glendale in the very near future. He has already engaged the services of a number of able sales people who will be on hand to introduce the new store to Glendale buyers, Saturday.

Goods are arriving daily and the display that will meet the gaze of the public tomorrow will be very pleasing, but the price and quality will also be big attractions to conservative buyers.

BIBLE CLASS MEN SERVE BANQUET TO THE WOMEN

Early last January the members of the Men's Bible class of Central Christian Sunday school became somewhat puffed up at the prospects of rapid growth and daringly challenged the Loyal Women's class of the same school to a contest on attendance, puctuality, lesson study and new members, the struggle to end on Easter Sunday. The losing class was to banquet the winners. The men lost and last night the debt was paid.

At beautifully arranged tables garnished with many hued flowers, 115 men, women and children were seated. Most of those present were adults, of course, members of the two competing classes. The menu of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, green peas, slaw, coffee and chocolate was prepared entirely by the men. This, with, of course, bread and butter and a dessert of brick ice cream and cake, provided a feast that was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

A program was given at the close which was as follows:: Welcome address by O. L. Kilborn, president of Men's class, and response by Mrs. Rosaltha Archer, Women's class presiding officer; piano solos by Miss Florence Heacock; a very interesting talk on class aims by Daniel MacKay for the men and Mrs. T. C. Creel for the women; songs by Will J. Myers, new choir director for the church, which were greatly appreciated; a highly humorous address by Mrs. Eva Hutton, teacher of the women's class, A. Cole, pastor and teacher of the Recent Contest," in which the men were scathingly, but good-naturedly satirized for their failure to compete with their opponents; the singing of one verse of "Home, Sweet Home" by all present in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the writing of this song of world-wide popularity; a talk by Rev. C. nen's class, humorous and serious by turns, on the contest and the opportunities of both classes to aid in all the work of the church, particularly that of the young people's department. Then after a little guessing contest, the meeting adjourned, with the women entertaining a new respect for the prowess of the men's cooking abilities.

POLA NEGRI SAYS MUCH WITH HANDS

"Say it with hands."

That is Pola Negri's own rule and one which the famous Polish star threatens to make the fashion in screen pantomime. For Pola believes in expressing just as many emotions as possible with the hands. It is a heritage from her stage pantomime work and she uses it repeatedly in her first

ADELINE WOODBURY
Tiny Glendale Saxophone Soloist, at T. D. and L. Theatre

American-made Paramount picture, "Bella Donna," which is the feature at the T. D. and L. theatre.

Second only to the face—and sometimes not even second to that—are the hands for expressing emotions, according to Miss Negri. She asserts that one can say much with the hands alone in a language which everyone understands, for all have hands and all know how the hands react to emotions.

Miss Negri started using her hands extensively in her first day's work in "Bella Donna." It was a scene between the star and Conrad Nagel who, with Conway Tearle, shares the leading man honors of the picture, that the star introduced her "hand technique." Miss Negri played the entire action almost without a change of facial expression — but her hands told volumes. As Nagel left the room, Miss Negri remained standing in the doorway, one hand raised above her head on the door frame. With a single motion of that hand she told the entire story of her desolation and her decision to make use of this man for her own ends.

"FOUR-MINUTE MEN"

How many know how the "Four-Minute Men" started and the extent of its activities during the world war?

When, in the early days of 1917, many citizens of the United States were urging preparedness, an organization called the "Four-Minute Men" under the leadership of a man by the name of Ryerson, sprang up in Chicago. Volunteers spoke on preparedness, making four-minute addresses in the moving picture houses of that city.

After the United States entered the war, Mr. Ryerson proposed to the United States government that the same fundamental idea of volunteer speakers be adopted for the whole country. After a little it was found that the committee on public information, directed by George Creel, was the organization that could absorb such an activity. So William McCormick Blair of Chicago was appointed by Mr. Creel as national director of the movement, which became a division of the committee on public information. From that time on under the leadership of Mr. Blair, and later—when Mr. Blair entered the army—under the leadership of Wm. H. Ingersoll, the "Four-Minute Men" did a great work.

In 1918 there were 7500 communities organized under local chairmen, and the total number of regular volunteer speakers who carried the government's messages to the people through moving picture houses, theaters, churches, colleges and other institutions was 60,000, while 40,000 more were classed as special speakers. Every state had a director who organized and pushed the activity in his own section. In many localities there were colored divisions, women's divisions, music divisions, etc.

Grossman-Miller Furniture Company Refrigerator Rush

Perhaps it is in spite of the hot weather, but it might easily be because of the hot weather, that I. Grossman of the Grossman-Miller Furniture company, at the corner of California and Brand boulevard, is able to state that brisk sales of refrigerators is in progress at his store.

"The first day of the sale was more than satisfactory, and I believe that the people are going to come out in even greater numbers, despite the heat, in order to take advantage of the offers in special summer needs in the way of refrigerators, beach furniture and camp outfits," Mr. Grossman said.

POSITION OF CITY MARSHAL IS DECLARED VACANT AND JOHN LONG IS APPOINTED

Street Signs and Speed of Pacific Electric Cars to Be Checked and Street Improvements Are Given Attention by the City Council

Declaring the position of city marshal vacant and appointing John Long as city marshal, the Burbank city trustees concluded an evening last night of constructive legislation. Street improvement matters occupied the most of the time.

Where do the city fathers spend their evenings? With the exception of Tuesday, when they meet in the city council chamber from 6:30 to 10:30 o'clock, they apparently are at home. This fact was exposed to the public when the matter of women smoking cigarettes in public places was called to the attention of the trustees. None of them knew about any such thing being done in the town of Burbank.

A letter was received from a Sunday school superintendent stating that he desired for the sake of the coming generations to have enacted a law whereby any woman who smoked would do so at least behind a curtain so that children passing would not see. The matter was referred to the legislative committee of the council.

A letter was read from Assemblyman Weller assuring the council that Burbank will have its sewer system. Mayor Crawford suggested that Mr. Weller be thanked by the council for his activity in the matter and the council voted that the city clerk, Mr. Webster, write the letter.

A letter from Mrs. Alpert was read telling of the danger of the Pacific Electric cars on Fourth street, and asking that something be done at once. The council had already investigated what could be done about the matter of regulating the speed of the cars. They instructed City Clerk Webster to write first to the Pacific Electric asking that the speed be cut down to 15 miles an hour when passing through Fourth street.

San Diego city council asked Burbank to send representatives to the League of Municipalities' Convention which is to be held there in September. The city clerk was instructed to write saying that seven or eight city officials will attend the educational meeting.

Bids for the water mains on Magnolia avenue were opened. Claud Fisher, Cornwell Henderson and George Mitchell submitted bids.

The letter of resignation from the city planning commission of Charles Kline was read. The council voted to ask the Woman's Club to name a woman for the vacant place.

Olive avenue street improvement work was awarded to George Simpson.

In answer to the request of the three men from the realty board, Mr. Wood, Mr. Radcliff, Mr. Nielsen, the board instructed the city clerk to write asking the cost of metal posts for street names and report at next council meeting. Mr. Webster was also asked to write to the Auto Club asking for a sign on Tenth and Olive, showing the main thoroughfare to the town of Burbank.

The opening of Eleventh street will be abandoned because of the number of protests received.

Mr. Houle appeared before the council asking how he was to get heavy loads of crushed rock to and from the rock crushing machine on Eleventh street since no heavy traffic is allowed on the streets leading to it. At previous council meetings people who have paid to have the street paved appeared asking that no heavy traffic be allowed.

The fine art of living in harmony was one of the problems before the council when Mr. Hill and Street Superintendent Scott presented a disagreement concerning street work. The board advised them to patch up their different views and forget about the past.

Tonight the Fsenner Bros. meet the American Legion.

REAL TWISTER IN 'WHERE PAVEMENT ENDS'

If there is any question in the minds of picture fans as to the authenticity of storm scenes in the movies, let them hear about the experience of Alice Terry during the making of Rex Ingram's latest production for Metro, "Where the Pavement Ends," by John Russell, which is now at the Glendale theatre.

It was the task of Alice Terry to fight her way against a tropical storm through the jungle of Florida. The picture was made in Miami and the surrounding Everglades during September and October, the hurricane months.

Rex Ingram deliberately awaited the coming of a "twister" before staging the scene. Then, gaining from the weather bureau an approximate estimate of the path the hurricane would take, he set up his camera a few yards away. And in the wash of that hurricane, liable at any moment to turn on her and to crush her beneath a tangle of trees and jungle growth, Alice Terry went through her big scene in "Where the Pavement Ends."

Miss Terry and Ramon Novarro have important parts in this thrilling and romantic tale of the South Seas. The story was adapted for the screen by Rex Ingram and photographed by John F. Seitz.

RESERVED SEATS AT CHAUTAUQUA ARE ON SALE

To Sell for One Dollar Each for the Entire Week

"The seats in the reserved section of the Chautauqua will sell at a dollar apiece for the entire week," remarked L. A. Hart, president of the local committee. "No phone orders can be filled and no person can reserve more than six seats at a time. This limitation is necessary in order that the good seats may be evenly distributed among those holding season tickets."

Reserved seats are now on sale at the Glenwood Bookstore, 113 South Brand boulevard.

By unanimous vote at the recent committee meeting it was decided to combine the matinee and evening performance Sunday into a double program for the afternoon. This was done in order that the evening program might not interfere with church services. The first half of the program will consist of a concert by Charles Mitchell's Mixer's Orchestra Quartet. The second half of the program will be a recital by James Hamilton, lyric tenor, and the orchestral quartet.

Miss Mary F. Dalton, representative of the Ellison-White Chautauqua, announced herself well pleased with the preliminary arrangements. She complimented the guarantors upon their work.

Attention was called to the fact that the comedy "Turn to the Right," which opens the bill, is not a one-man play like "Cappy Ricks" but has five well balance parts.

SUNSET GROVE
BIG CLEAN-UP SALE

All lots have been sold except 7 and we are going to sell the balance at terms never before equalled for this class property.

$50 CASH, $20 PER MO.

Two lots at $1050 each.
Three lots at $1150 each.
Two lots at $1225 each.

Beautiful high-class restricted property and between two main boulevards, Kenneth road and Tenth street, full size lots 50x156 to an alley, covered with beautiful fruit trees. This year's crop goes with the property and is in itself a considerable item, as the crop is very heavy; about 18 trees to each lot.

We confidently predict that Sunset Grove lots will be worth from $1500 to $2000 in a short time and compared with the prices of other property they are worth that now.

The tract office will be open Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. The best opportunity we ever expect to offer to secure high-class property with a minimum initial payment. Enough said.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK

REALTY BOARD NAMES CIVIC AFFAIRS BODY

Realtors Want Rules Governing P. E. Speed on Fourth Street

Burbank civic affairs will be the object of consideration of a committee appointed by the Burbank Realty Board at their business meeting Monday night. J. D. Radcliff, B. C. Wood and Jans Nielson were appointed as the permanent body of the board. When any civic welfare movements are to be engineered this committee will be in charge of the details.

The board asked the committee to attend the city council meeting Tuesday evening and in the name of the Realty Board recommend that the paving that is to be put in on Eighth and Sixth streets have no projections or curves above the surface of the street such as are on Tenth and Eleventh streets.

The board declares that these are dangerous and should be removed. They also ask that all water openings be covered with gratings.

This committee asked what could be done to compel the Pacific Electric company to avoid accidents, as far as can be done so, by limiting the speed or by having them stop at every crossing or installing a wigwag system. There have been too many avoidable accidents it was stated.

Resolutions of sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Music were passed. The board expressed their sorrow over Mr. Music's injuries received when his auto was hit by a fast eastbound Pacific Electric car.

The civic committee also was to ask the board to see that all streets are properly marked with the names of the streets.

The address of the evening was given by Mr. Snow of Los Angeles who told of the Torrens title. As the problem of getting abstracts through in better time has been bothering the members this was a topic of special interest to them.

J. J. King told of the work of a building and loan association. He mentioned the fact that the association has always been the big influence in any community for encouraging thrift.

The dues were raised from $1 to $1.50 in order that the board may increase its scope of work.

WOMAN'S CLUB MAKES RECORD

The Burbank Woman's club has made a record for itself. It had more members than any other club in this district who cast votes at the fall election last November. This was the announcement made in Los Angeles at the district council meeting, according to Attorney Margaret Yale who attended the legislative council Thursday.

Credit was due to them for this because of their active interest in legislative matters and also in state questions. According to monthly reports it was found that Burbank had evinced more interest in legislative matters than any club in the district and one means of judging its beneficial influence was by the number of votes cast. Reports of registration are just coming and they show that the women felt the responsibility of citizenship and did not neglect this vital factor of daily life. Mrs. Yale, legislative chairman, made the report at the Tuesday afternoon business session.

The meeting Tuesday afternoon consisted of hearing many business reports, and of voting for candidates for the election which is to be in two weeks. No announcement of the results of the voting was given at the club meeting as the votes were not counted until after the meeting, but since the constitution and by-laws changed a few months ago and will affect this coming year the members felt this was an important meeting.

In addition to voting for the officers and directors voters were asked to decide the matter of having the club begin a half an hour earlier than has been usual the past year, making the beginning hour 2 o'clock. Another minor change is the separation of the house chairmanship from the vice-president.

In spite of the fact that the present president, Mrs. Johnson, has stated emphatically that she did not wish to serve as she is planning for a long trip, many voted for her. If she had consented to run there is no doubt but that every one would have cast a vote for her. Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Walter Fisher and Mrs. Kate Thimgan were apparently the leading candidates in the voting. It was understood the directors would be Mesdames Yale, Ramp, Clarke, Fitzsimmons and Coburn.

Mrs. Mattie Craig appeared before the club and invited them to the Hollywood "Community Sing" Tuesday night at which there was to be reserved seats for the Burbank people. Mrs. Craig also asked the women to bring their friends to the "Mothers' Day" program to be given at 3:30 Sunday afternoon at the Edison school grounds.

The club voted to have a food sale at the Merchants' Exhibition tent. The club has a booth there, which Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Fisher decorated for the club to use. It was decided to give a food sale Thursday evening and the needle work section will give one Saturday night.

As a finish of the year, Mrs. May Clarke gave another paper relating to the sixteenth biennial convention of the Federation of Women's clubs, held at Chautauqua.

She told of the various noted women who spoke and told of the things they said. Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, president of the Chautauqua Women's club, a most wonderful little woman, a human dynamo, described the growth of the Chautauqua Woman's club, which she said was slow but sure.

She was followed by Mrs. Thos. A. Edison, who spoke briefly of the founding of Chautauqua by her father, Lewis Miller and Bishop Vincent of Methodist fame.

One sees all over the country, the same kind of women with the same problems, with the same ways of solving them, little by little taking out the black lines of differences that divide them. Then one sees them gathered together as they were that night with the fine lines wiped out in the great white light of a grand, and noble sisterhood.

One of the subjects discussed was "the need of co-operation between the old and new generation," quoting Kate Douglas Wiggin in the discussion of the "painless extinction of parents."

Vigorous and appealing was the address of Hanford MacNider, of Mason City, Iowa, at that time national commander of the American Legion. He said: "We ask no greater privilege than to co-operate with the general federation. We realize that it was the good women of America that bore the brunt of the war. We are grateful for the splendid way in which they stood behind us then and are standing behind us still. That America shall stay as we fought that it should stay—America!"

Two questions were asked each chairman (1) what percent of your club is studying citizenship, and (2) what percent of your club observed citizenship day July 4? Vermont led with 100 percent on each question.

Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson of New York gave a discussion of education for citizenship. Mrs. Alonzo Richardson of Atlanta, Georgia, defined good citizenship as "It is to love each other well enough to think of each other often enough to help each other be better."

Mrs. Josephine Daskam Bacon declared the newspapers are anxious to hear the vital things the clubs are doing, and the federation needs publicity.

"The power to determine civilization rests in the hands of the women of the general federation of clubs," said one speaker.

YOUNG MAN ADMITS THEFT

Theron G. Phillips, 21 years old, of 330 North Angeleno avenue, is being held by the Burbank police charged with burglary and larceny. Property stolen from A. A. Chute, in March, was found in his room. The theft was reported at that time and the Burbank police found clues which led to Philips. They have been observing him since that time and caught him stealing carburetors from the Moreland truck factory.

The police went with him to his room and there they found a stolen camera, and one of silk shirts stolen from Mr. Chute. At first he denied the thefts but after talking for more than two hours he made a written confession, admitting the burglary.

Mrs. L. E. Troyer will speak of the Baptist Mexican work and Rev. C. R. Morgan will speak at the evening service on the subject "After Fifty Years." The public is invited.

THE GENUS FLAPPER

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY, May 7. — (United Press). — The flapper, bold yet timid; fearful and brave; free, yet shackled; smokes, weeps, lives, loves, but is never really bad; such is the description of the Genus Flappera by Miss Agnes Newton, junior from Venice, Calif., in the Occident, campus literary magazine just out. Miss Newton says of the flapper:

"I am the herald of the future and the heritage of the age. I have the beauty of youth; I have dreams of hope; I have the boldness of the timid; I have the fear of the brave. I am the temple of the tides—but I am not bad.

"I revel in the trouble I spread; I delight in being the problem. I have some beautiful thoughts; I dream some beautiful dreams. You had only your few years with youth, as I have mine. Remember you turned out all right; so will I, for I am not bad."

Edith, aged four, accompanied her mother on a shopping expedition one afternoon, and, stopping in front of a candy store, she exclaimed:

"Oh, mamma, let's go in and buy some chocolate drops!".

"No, dear," replied her mother, "we must save our money for something better."

"But, mamma," persisted Edith, "I don't believe we will ever find anything better."

Sometimes a man's warm love melts a girl's heart, and sometimes it is his cold cash.

OPPOSE FOREIGN CAPITAL

TOKIO—The success of the American loan to the Oriental Development company has encouraged other Japanese firms to seek capital abroad. This is said not to be approved by the government and the Bank of Japan, but companies assert they cannot get the money here. The Osaka Kyto railway company is among those seeking capital.

CHEAP SCHOOL HOUSE

SAN ANDREAS, Cal.—The Calaveras county board of supervisors accepted a bid of $25 for the old Spring Valley grammar school house, located in the historic Bret Harte mining country. In pioneer days the school housed many pupils, but has since been closed owing to lack of attendance.

WILL NEED NEW PARKING RULES

Burbank Police Force Advocates Change in Regulations

Parking of automobiles is becoming more and more an important question for Burbank. The heavy traffic that surges up and down San Fernando boulevard all day long increases the chances of accidents. Several auto accidents have been reported to the police which were caused by autos backing out of a parking place on the boulevard.

Roy Neberg, Tuesday, was the last one to report colliding with a Dodge touring car backing out of a parking place on the boulevard.

Time limit and parallel parking ordinance will soon become a necessity it is thought, in order to make Burbank's main thoroughfare safe for drivers.

TUESDAY PERMITS TOTAL $11,650

Tuesday building permits outran Monday by several thousand dollars. If builders make that much increase every day it can not be long until there will be a house for everyone that needs a dwelling. The building inspector, Elmer Dale, issued the following permits Tuesday:

Southern California Gas company, garage, 150 North Olive avenue, $1000.

Southern California Gas company, office, 150 North Olive, $9000.

L. C. Applegate, garage, Orchard drive, $450.

F. L. Jimison, dwelling, 814 Tujunga avenue, $1200. Total, $11,650.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK

'CLARENCE' IS DELAYED FOR ONE WEEK

Splendid Cast Is Putting Varnish on Current Community Play

"Clarence" will be unable to make his appearance in Eagle Rock on the 9th and 10th of May. Owing to the fact that several further details of production have yet to be worked out, the date for the presentation of the community play for this month has been postponed. The committee in charge will make a later announcement of the exact evening when "Clarence" will assist the typically American, wrangling family of Wheelers to unravel their intricate affairs and let the skeletons out of the family clothespress. The play will not be delayed over a week.

The cast of local amateur celebrities chosen for the current production is one of the strongest yet assembled by Mrs. Elgy Lowry Fischer during her work as community play director of Eagle Rock. Some exceptional talent has come to light since the call went out for applicants for the wholly satisfactory roles created by Booth Tarkington in this genuine American comedy. At each rehearsal the players have shown more polish and played up to one another in a more professional style. The entire group has been plastic above the average amateur cast, according to Mrs. Fischer. The splendid enthusiasm of the characters has carried them through the more difficult parts of the play with real merit.

There is a laugh in every line of "Clarence," and every character is a real person whom every American has met in the home life of his friends. Or perhaps the flapper or the flipper, or the sensitive, hysterical Mrs. Wheeler, or the plodding, earnest, misunderstood father, Mr. Wheeler, or a "Clarence who has been in the army" and is consequently called upon to mend the broken screens, fix the kitchen sink, take the groan out of the bathtub plumbing, wipe the dishes, and play the saxophone to entertain the "company," or do any one of a number of other household duties passed on to a "handy man," lives in your own home. There isn't a false, or impossible, or uninteresting character in the whole play. Even Dinwiddie, and Della, housemaid and butler, are quite as fascinating in their drollery as the "stars" of the play, who are entitled to that distinction by right of romance.

A number of college students are lined up in the cast, which follows:

Mrs. Wheeler ..... Essie D. Koen
Mr. Wheeler .... Samuel A. Ratliffe
Mrs. Martin ..... Esther Smith
Bobby Wheeler ..... Harwin Mann
Cora Wheeler .....
Marian Lerchin and Janet Hodge
Violet Pinney ..... Ruth Mason
Clarence .....
Arvid Lundy and Louis Chandler
Della ..... Anna Mae Monroe
Dinwiddie .. Frederick H. Beach
Huber Stem ..... Edmond Brady

Where two characters have been chosen for the same role, each will have an opportunity of playing in one of the performances.

Another Accident—Eagle Rock Traffic Heavier?

Another auto accident was reported by Mrs. W. H. Chaffin, 319 East Sycamore avenue, who stated that the car driven by Mrs. Clara Sommers, 1228 East Sycamore avenue, turned the corner on the wrong side of the street and ran into her machine. The damage was slight.

'THE RECTOR' TO BE PRODUCED BY WOMEN'S CLUB

Dramatic Section Studies Plays for Future Club Programs

The Dramatic section of the Women's Twentieth Century club met yesterday for further reading and study of the play which is now in the course of production by that group, "The Rector." This play has a rare vein of comedy woven throughout the plot, and is being prepared by the ladies in the drama section as the feature number of some future program of the Twentieth Century club.

The Dramatic section was organized a few weeks ago for the study and production of modern plays. Two meetings each month are scheduled, one for the afternoon of the second Tuesday and the other for an evening chosen at a convenient time for all the members to attend. Mrs. J. B. Squire is chairman of this section.

EX - SECRETARY OF VENICE C. OF C. ASSISTS HERE

H. B. Pier, who has just severed his connection with the Venice chamber of commerce as secretary of that organization, will assist Ben Schouboe, in charge of the local organization campaign, for a few weeks. Mr. Pier made an especially detailed and instructive address at the chamber of commerce smoker here two weeks ago. He is welcomed back by all the chamber of commerce workers who realize his wide experience will be of service to them in pointing out the proper steps to be followed. Mr. Pier has gone back into organization work as a member of the firm of Stevenson & Schoubce.

C. OF C. TO PUT ON NEIGHBORHOOD CAMPAIGN

A new angle has been worked out in procuring members for the chamber of commerce. Each present member will be asked to visit at least two of his neighbors and request their subscription. In this way Eagle Rock residents will be made welcome and given an opportunity to get in on the ground floor.

IRVING ROSSWELL SUFFERS GROSS INDIGNITY

Files Suit in Local Court Against Maude Thompson for Disturbance of Peace

Charging that Maude Thompson hired several small boys to procure bouquets of bachelor's buttons from a nearby gardener and then to throw these into his front yard with loud and afronting cries of "Bachelor!" Bachelor!" "Bachelor!" Irving P. Rosswell filed a complaint in the local court yesterday. The specific charge against Maude Thompson is disturbance of the peace and quiet of the neighborhood on Satsuma and Sycamore avenues.

No direct motive for the odd disturbance was offered by Mr. Rosswell yesterday. He felt that the boisterous conduct of the small boys had subjected him to a gross indignity. Their clamor was so loud that it aroused several of Mr. Rosswell's neighbors.

The case will come before the local court on Saturday.

AMERICAN COLLEGE CLUB PROGRAM AT KIRKSEYS'

The American College Course club, which has spent three months in an extensive study of the life and works of famous composers, will present a musicale at the beautiful home of Mrs. C. A. Kirksey, 210 East Hill avenue, tonight. Mrs. Archibald Fiske will call upon various members of the club for selections chosen from those that have been taken up at the Wednesday morning meetings. The entire program will be informal, but some excellent and difficult numbers will be given by the club members.

Miss Ruth Thompson and Mrs. Branch are in charge of the program.

Kyle D. Palmers Are Leaving for Sacramento

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle D. Palmer of 246 North Satsuma avenue, will leave for Sacramento tomorrow. Mr. Palmer is political editor of the Los Angeles Times, and he and Mrs. Palmer will remain in Sacramento until the close of the legislature.

MEDICAL HELP BY AIRPLANE

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 7.—A movement is on foot here to supply medical aid to the remote sections of New South Wales in conjunction with the use of radio and airplanes.

Radio would be used to summon help, and airplanes would carry the doctor to the patient, wherever the latter might be, from any one of ten strategically located medical bases.

Truths in Epigram

We love in others what we lack ourselves, and would be everything but what we are.—R. H. Stoddard.

What else is an old man but voice and shadow?—Euripides.

THE ISOLATIONISTS

President Harding is said to have turned his back with finality upon the isolationists of the senate. For this attitude the country will applaud him. In no other way could he have remained consistent in support of the institution of a world court, a project that already has received his endorsement.

People who hold that this country should exist for and by itself have waived consideration of the fact that it could not do so, however much it might desire. The proposition of isolation does not have to be reduced to an absurdity, being an absurdity at the start. The United States being a part of the structure of civilization, its fortunes are involved with those of the whole. The assumption that it could be peaceful and prosperous with the structure disintegrating is original enough, but as to the saving merit of common sense, is woefully lacking.

The real reasons inspiring the Borahs, the Johnsons and the Lafollettes, these statesmen refrain from giving. They attempt to build up a logical buttress for their untenable position. Were they forced to give their real reasons it is doubtful that they would have the hardihood to make the attempt. Some of them speak out of bitter prejudice against certain of the allies. They would prefer to see all the nations involved in turmoil and in peril of destruction, to seeing the United States on friendly terms, with England, for example. They find that by taking such attitude they can win the applause of the part of the press that in the war was pro-German, and since the war remains alien in heart and principle. They believe that this element of publicity will cause a rallying of the discontented, the parlor bolshevists, the syndicalists, thick-and-thin pacifists, the party outcasts, and that the aggregate mob will be a dominant influence. The chance that they are in error will be generally recognized.

Americans do not desire foreign entanglements. They are aware that there must be foreign relationships. Many interests are the interests of the world, and not of a single nation. Therefore Americans desire that the relationships shall be amicable. Dreading the possibility of war, they admire the President for favoring an international court, as the wisest measure yet devised for prevention of war.

"MOONSHINE" AS A DEFENSE

Having killed his wife, a mechanic of Fresno has been founud guilty of the crime, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The only excuse he had was that he had been drinking "moonshine" whisky, and that it had poisoned his brain. This was an explanation rather than an excuse. Probably the jury gave it all the consideration it was worth when their form of verdict saved the prisoner from the extreme penalty.

There has been enough experience with spurious liquor to make clear the folly of indulgence in it. In many instances it has been fatal to the consumer. Often it has caused permanent blindness. In other cases it has rendered the consumed temporarily at least, a raging lunatic. Policemen who arrest the type of drunks occasioned by illicit liquor realize that they are dealing with crazed and dangerous creatures. They ascribe much of the prevalent deeds of violence to the form the vice of drinking has now taken.

Men who purchase from the bootlegger understand the risk they run. They know they are endangering their lives and their reason. If, knowing all this, they yield to the singular temptation to change themselves into sodden and ravening fiends, their claim to immunity because of the condition they deliberately sought, is without basis. Of course the bootlegger is equally guilty of whatever mischiefs are inspired by his wares, but it is not always possible to connect him with a specific act of crime.

THE PEOPLE WILL DECIDE

The assembly defeated the bill providing for conviction by nine jurors out of the twelve. This was to apply only in cases not involving capital penalty.

There has been no showing of the precise reasons for defeat. If there are valid objections to the measure, its opponents sedulously refrained from mentioning them. Of course the statement that the law as planned would have been against labor is recognized as an absurdity. Labor is as much interested as any other element of society in the suppression of crime.

The helplessness of courts under the present system has been demonstrated many times. In instances in which the guilt of the defendant has been proved beyond a doubt, some recalcitrant member of the jury, dense or corrupt, has held out against all the rest, and defeated justice and nullified the spirit of the law. The ease with which an unscrupulous lawyer may control a sufficient minority of jurors to cause a mistrial, has given the criminal classes much confidence, by relieving them of fear of penalty. It was due to this that the public demand for a change arose. The assembly failed to heed the demand. Now the matter will go to the people for decision. It is believed that they will not coincide with the assembly in supporting the desires of the underworld.

CONCERNING ROMANCE

Social circles of Detroit are much stirred over the marriage of a wealthy woman of that city to her father's gardener. A little while ago a ripple crossed the drawing rooms of two continent because an American girl of fortune chose to wed a hostler, or some such person, old enough to be her father. The fact that both affairs concerned the principals, and a circle of relatives, but nobody else, never seems to have occurred to the multitude of gossips. If the girl made a mistake, "it is her own funeral," as the saying is, and she is the one who will be called upon to pay for it.

In the Detroit case, the bride is a woman in her forties. Surely she had reached the age of discretion, and anyhow, her conduct in respect of matrimony must be regarded as subject to her personal will. Surely a woman of that age was not called upon to consult parental authority, nor even to seek advice if she did not feel the need of it. Moreover, when the years of spinsterhood have reached the dignity of more than two score, the spinster deeming single life not the most desirable, may have to accept what seems to be the best chance in sight. If so be this chance is afforded by the gardener, probably she knows what she is doing. She knows, at least, whether he is a competent gardener, and this is something.

Personal freedom is made much of in this country. Even the constitution has something to say about it. Yet when the individual seeks to enjoy personal freedom, there always is somebody to stir up a fuss. The more polite way would be to bring on the rice and good wishes, and let it go at that.

The Functioning of Folly

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Normal people need amusement occasionally, and are better for it.

Children, morons and spoiled women—as well as idle men—crave to be amused as a dipsomaniac craves liquor.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

And what shall we say of the mentality of the thousands who have by interest, money and publicity fed the folly of those trotting imbeciles who have been staging dancing marathons all over the country?

Here and there one of them pranced until death in black cap and gown stopped the absurd exhibition; but most of the contestants held out, lived and will, no doubt, in time, commit some folly again with the general idea that fame and notoriety are synonymous.

When last I took a peep at the score some girl has succeeded in dancing more than 100 hours and was reported still fresh.

And when all is said and done, what does such a contest prove? Why nothing except that some one has powerful leg muscles, lots of idle time and a willingness to behave like a Japanese waltzing mouse. And we find many apparently sane people who can feel an interest in seeing such contests decided, just as in the past, many apparently sane people were interested in piano playing contests, not those held to determine the best musicians but those in which it was sought to prove which of a number of contestants could sit and play the longest. These poor boobs sat without sleep for days on end, they were fed at their posts; their fingers grew numb with paralysis and when finally the insane exhibition was over the survivor fell off his stool in a coma produced by exhaustion.

Did you ever happen to watch the progress of such a contest? Do so once and then ask yourself honestly what it all means. What is the matter with a public that can interest itself in such banalities?

Once in my girlhood half a dozen men came in from the great cotton plantations in the south to a country store which had a saloon attached. A discussion arose as to which of the men could drink the most raw whisky without stopping. The bystanders were keen for the contest and bet on their favorite soaks.

One man drank a quart of raw whisky and collapsed on the floor in a limp heap. He had won; but he was dead and unable to appreciate his victory.

The papers gave space to the story and spoke with admiration of the achievements of the dead. The public had enjoyed a contest.

Well, the public is a valuable animal to the chaps who need it and it pays to keep it amused. In Rome they fed people to the lions to amuse the mob. We have passed that stage of barbarity. We even frown on liquor drinking contests. But dancing is different. Occasionally it's fatal, but dancers are plenty and no one misses the dead ones.

Salaam the great God Amusement. He keeps the people from thinking which might injure their perfect content with themselves.

THE RIGHT WORD

HOW TO USE THE COMMA
(Additional Suggestions.)
(Find the error in this article.)

Mind interjections are set off by the comma; as, Oh, how I wish you would come; Now, now, don't say that.

An introductory, transposed part of a sentence is set off by a comma; as, From the outside, I could see all that was going on.

There is often a part of a sentence that could be omitted without changing the principal meaning, and usually such a part is set off by commas; as, His time, valuable as it was said to be, was offered me freely; His mother, who had always believed in him, was finally rewarded for her patience.

The comma is used to separate the conditional part of a sentence from the principal part; as, When he returned to the house, there was nothing further we could do; If we had known the nature of his mission, there is no doubt but that we could have been prepared.

It is also used to separate the two or more principal parts of a sentence; as, Our time was limited, but this did not seem to worry my friend.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Jim Riley speaks of a time "knee deep in June."

Perhaps you remember the poem.

And the expression.

For it is a genuinely poetical one.

"Knee deep in June."

About a third of the way.

Just where you feel the water coming up to your knees, as you would in a brook.

* * *

We are coming now to a time which is about knee-deep in the year.

The winter over.

Spring going.

And summer in the near future.

Summer with its foliage, its shaped fruit, its rapidly growing grain, its sunny days, fragrant nights.

* * *

And summer means a lot of things.

It means that school "lets out" for one thing.

And that will be welcomed by the youngsters.

Not that they dislike school.

Indeed not.

But the youngster knows the benefits of change and rest and play.

* * *

Rest comes mostly from change.

The man who has slaved at a desk for ten months will make him a camp in the hills.

He will pitch a tent and chop wood and carry water and whip streams for fish.

All work to which he is unaccustomed.

But it is in the way of change.

So he rests.

The mind is a busy little engine or dynamo or whatever you choose to call it.

Thinking during every waking hour.

And thinking is labor for the mind.

Some of the thinking is not excessively laborious perhaps.

But a lot of the thinking of the world is hard work.

* * *

The judge on the bench.

The business man at his desk.

The manufacturer in his office.

The preacher in his study.

The editor in his sanctum.

The every day man and woman with the round of worries to carry and tasks to do and ends to make meet.

* * *

So it is not to be wondered that minds grow weary.

Need rest and change.

The body slavishly employed for a week needs the rest and change of the seventh day.

Otherwise it grows worn and tired and incapable.

* * *

It is not so clearly realized that the mind, which works often slavishly for weeks and months without cessation, needs the same rest and change.

Tired minds mean morbidity.

Irritability.

Instability.

Despondency and what we term "the blues."

* * *

So along about "knee deep in June" we shall begin to think of a cessation of the usual duties.

The school boy from his desk and book.

The clerk from his desk.

The professional man from his labors.

And men and women from the grind of every day life.

The schoolboy and girl are not alone in their need of "Vacation."

Songs of the Poets

Ballad—By Harriet Prescott Spofford

In the summer even,
While yet the dew was hoar,
I went plucking purple pansies,
Till my love should come to shore.
The fishing-lights their dances
Were keeping out at sea,
And come, I sung, my true love!
Come hasten home to me!

But the sea it fell a-moaning
And the white gulls rocked thereon;
And the young moon dropped from heaven,
And the lights hid one by one.
All silently their glances
Slipped down the cruel sea,
And wait! cried the night and wind and storm—
Wait till I come to thee!

JOHN BROWN'S BODY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WHEN John Brown's body lay a-mouldering in the grave, the song tells us, his soul went marching on.

John Brown did more toward arousing the country to the evils of slavery by getting himself killed than by anything he did during his lifetime.

One of the tragic facts of this humanity is that we cannot be made to realize the necessity of getting rid of a shoe until it pinches.

In the days of the saloon, it was almost impossible to arouse the community against its evils until somebody was murdered.

The only common-sense way to get rid of war and its colossal crime and waste never received any attention from the world until after the German army came very near wiping out civilization, and it looks as if it might take another and greater catastrophe to move the slow minds of men.

People never realized the monstrosity of absolutism until it flowered into the abuses preceding the French revolution.

We never fix the front stoop until somebody falls on it and breaks a leg.

A number of poor, crack-brained old women had to be burned before the world awoke to the fact that witchcraft was sheer nonsense.

People go on overstuffing themselves with sweets until they are checked up by diabetes.

A child never learns to let the stove alone until he burns his fingers.

That monstrous, festering sore of iniquity known as the county jail, still flourishes throughout the United States, and the people will probably never get around to make it decent until something terrible shocks them into action.

The system of hiring out convicts to labor camps was so manifestly open to abuse that any one would have thought it should have been abolished long ago. The state of Florida kept on sending unfortunate wretches into slavery, where they were the victims of inhuman masters, and nobody seemed to pay any attention to it until one day a poor boy from North Dakota was arrested for stealing rides on a train, or some such crime, sent to the convict camp, and whipped to death.

The boy's name was Martin Tabert. His relatives in North Dakota protested. The newspapers, who are the best policeman in the world, began to talk. The facts came out and the whole nation shuddered.

And now it looks as if the convict camp might be abolished.

Marjory Stoneman Douglas has made a ballad upon this, which recently appeared in the New York World. It contains these lines and a great idea:

Martin Tabert of North Dakota is walking Florida now.
O children, hark to his footsteps coming, for he's walking soft and slow,
Through the piney wood and the cypress hollows
A wind creeps up and it's him it follows—
Martin Tabert of North Dakota, walking Florida now.

They nailed his coffin boards together and he's walking Florida now.
O children, the dark night saw where they buried him, buried him, buried him low.
The tall pines heard when they went to hide him
And the wind crept up to moan beside him,
Martin Tabert of North Dakota. And he's walking Florida now.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

NOT SERIOUSLY TAKEN

[Springfield Union]

How seriously England takes prohibition was indicated by the vote of 236 to 14 by which the first prohibition bill ever introduced in the house of commons was defeated, and also by the merriment provoked by descriptions of the operation of prohibition in the United State. The United States was not only held up to ridicule but also to shame by the statement of one member of parliament, that as the result of four years of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, 90 per cent of Americans are law-breakers. This was, of course, a gross exaggeration, but there is evidence on every hand that prohibition has resulted in wholesale law-breaking and in a growing disrespect for all laws.

WHILE BORAH IS AWAY

[Buffalo Express]

Senator Borah has returned to Idaho to face a fight in his own state and his own party. This will give Harding and the other boys at Washington a chance to rest up and brush off their clothes.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

[Providence Journal]

It is food for thought that the only actual physical damage to her domestic property that Germany has suffered as an outcome of the war arises from the sabotage of which she is herself guilty in the Ruhr.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Foreign countries are not very enthusiastic concerning enforcement of prohibition in the United States.

Chancellor Cuno if invited to quit his job probably could get a more agreeable one. Almost any job would be that.

Perhaps the recent strike of carpenters was their own way of getting a rest in this busy community.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Naturally the outsider feels diffident in touching upon the technicalities of sport, or of athletic and speed records. But the matter looks mighty queer to him.

HENRY JAMES

Here's Charlie Paddock, for example, competent to run faster than anybody else on two legs. He is invited, as a collegiate representative to compete in Paris. The invitation is a courtesy and a distinct honor, so it is accepted. Then, rising on its hind feet, the officials of the A. A. U. inform Paddock that they desire him to stay at home, to refrain from running, and break a promise made in good faith. Paddock, being a free born American citizen, quite aware that his conduct in this instance is none of the business of the A. A. U. simply ignores the demand. In this it appears to the observer he is fully justifiable. Were he to send word to the A. A. U. that if they don't like it they may lump it, his conduct would be endorsed.

Then American fliers cross the continent, making a record far ahead of the best before. They are informed that the record "may not be recognized." But it will be recognized by the army. It will be recognized by the navy, and the navy will try to excel it. It is recognized by the public. If some organization that thinks itself the mentor of flying choose not to recognize it, still will it be a record.

When a record is made it cannot be unmade by disparaging remarks. Any organization refusing to recognize it simply is confessing its refusal to accept facts.

* * *

It is quite possibe that if Norman Hapgood realized how little his opinion was esteemed he would cease the practice of having its broadcasted to the world.

Hapgood and Steffens may be regarded as the wild asses of letters.

* * *

Police authorities recently stopped a wedding ceremony just in time to prevent the union of a boy of seventeen with a girl even younger. The boy had given his age as twenty-one, and the mother of the girl seems to have done the lying for her.

Of course such a marriage would have been disastrous, probably ending in separation after a baby or two had been contributed to the public to be supported by charity.

Somebody ought to speak real firmly to mother.

* * *

There has been considerable disturbance in Sierra Madre over school affairs. Anything touching the schools is of general interest.

The row in progress there seems to have Dean William Carson Shaw, chairman of the board, on one side, and the whole community on the other. Perhaps Shaw is right. There is an honored belief that God and one constitute a majority. In the absolute truth of this, however, rests the only hope of the chairman. To the unbiased observer he looks all wrong.

It is believed that the ku klux will not be permitted to parade in California clad in sheets and pillow cases.

Of course they are mad about it now, but some day they may come to their senses and be grateful for having been saved from being ridiculous.

The Ford concern now has more money than is to be found in a lump anywhere in the United States, outside the treasury.

In many a breast there springs a hope that it is to be employed as the nucleus of a campaign fund.

* * *

Stealing of automobiles has become a business of vast proportions. Losses to owners of machines in Los Angeles alone so far this year have amounted to $1,358,000. This is half a million ahead of any record previously made. In April the stolen machines were 402. For the year so far there have been 845 machines taken from the city streets.

This is one form of enterprise of which the city fails to be proud. Civic pride suggests that efforts be made to cut it down. Perhaps owners would not be going to an extreme if they were to take the precaution to lock their machines.

* * *

Doubtless many sane citizens, industrious, even good to their mothers, ride the motorcycle. Nevertheless such a rider can get himself more thoroughly hated in a short spin than any other type infesting the highway.

It is not that he goes too fast, as habitually he does. It is from the habit of rushing from unexpected places with a thundering roar, and disappearing in the distance, all the time keeping up a racket like a machine gun. Nobody ever yet has explained why the motorcyclist makes so hideous a noise. It is wholly superfluous, and serves no purpose but to insult every human being within earshot.

* * *

If the women of California choose to cease buying sugar at the present price, nobody will blame them.

Sugar is a staple commodity, and its employment as a means of gambling, at the expense of the public, is far from winning popularity.

It is interesting to read that the mayor of Omaha is the leader of the Fascisti of America. The reader does not get much meaning out of it, however. Whom is he leading, and whither? Also, why?

It probably will be long before the Fascisti business of Omaha equals in volume and importance the traffic in fat hogs in the stockyards of that city.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

I do not want to see May any more whatever. I lose my temper when I think of her. She is sweet and excellently rounded and just nicely mature and sufficiently pretty. Unfortunately, May is a fool. Ultimately a fool gets on one's nerves, no matter how pretty she may be.

"The other little boys at his school pick on Rollo so," says she.

The sapient reader will discover Rollo is May's baby boy. He is now thirteen, and husky. The chances are that he will never be worth his salt. May is keeping him unspotted from this world until the only thing he will ever be fit for is to marry some rich man's daughter. If she loses temper with his sweetness and divorces him he's a lost man. Yet it isn't the kid's fault. It is May's.

He hurries home after school each night and mamma smacks a kiss on him as soon as he has achieved that perilous voyage and comes safe to the home port. I'm not against kissing. The least dangerous form of this exercise is the mother's kiss, perhaps. But too much kissing is not good for small boys. After school he is kept in the house, except when May goes to the movies or a theater. Then she takes him with her. She never goes out at night unless some one is at home to protect Rollo.

"He is so little—and sweet," says May.

Oh, she said it. It almost made me physically ill to hear her. Rollo grouped himself with mamma, winding his arms about her and putting his head on her shoulder. May's husband and the kid's father is not at home very much, being a traveling man. He is not very popular at home anyhow, for he does not like sweet little boys.

May has every fine quality of womanhood except sense. She does not—cannot—realize that she is deliberately and certainly destroying her son.

K. C. CONVENTION CONSIDERS PLANS FOR JUNIORS

Resolutions and Reports Are Business of Today

SACRAMENTO, May 9.—Resolutions and reports presented at the opening of the twenty-first annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus here today, called for the establishment of a junior order for boys from 14 to 21 years of age; the adoption of effective and systematic campaigns against insidious anti-Catholic propagandists, the K. of C. order proposing to use every means to secure conviction and jail sentences wherever possible, when libelous and defamatory literature or tactics are resorted to; creation of more councils in the city of San Francisco, with the idea of increasing the sphere and scope of the order's work in that city; perpetuation of the annual Catholic historical essay contest movement of the order in California; and numerous other measures.

State Deputy D. Joseph Coyne of Los Angeles presided at today's sessions. Tonight the convention ball took place, 1,500 people attending the brilliant function.

Tomorrow morning the convention will come to a close. Much business is to be transacted, the action of the conclave on resolutions being an important branch of the session. Election of state officers for the 1923-1924 year; selection of national delegates to the August convention at Montreal, and naming of the 1924 state convention city, will be some of the items of business to be transacted.

District Deputy and Convention Chairman Frank E. Michel, jr., estimated that 2,000 people are here for the business sessions and entertainment functions of the convention.

Pasadena is said to be the unanimous choice of all delegates for the 1924 state convention.

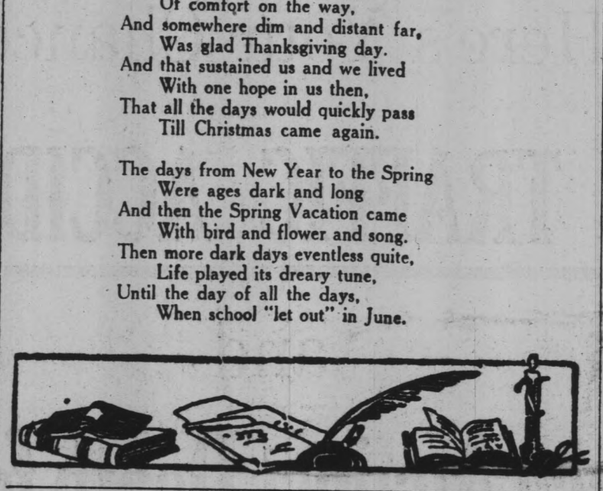
A BOY'S YEAR

We had a way of counting time
In boyhood that was ours;
We had no calendar to mark
The passing days and hours,
June to September was the best
Of time and passed too soon,
And then the long and dreary days
From September to June.

June to September, who shall tell
In finest prose or rhyme,
The gladness that we youngsters knew
Through all Vacation Time.
And then the quite forsaken woods,
The lonesome swimming pool,
That sad and drear part of the year
When we went back to school.

But in between were little isles
Of comfort on the way,
And somewhere dim and distant far,
Was glad Thanksgiving day.
And that sustained us and we lived
With one hope in us then,
That all the days would quickly pass
Till Christmas came again.

The days from New Year to the Spring
Were ages dark and long
And then the Spring Vacation came
With bird and flower and song.
Then more dark days eventless quite,
Life played its dreary tune,
Until the day of all the days,
When school "let out" in June.



ZIEGFIELD FOLLIES GIRL VISITING HER GLENDALE FOLKS

Miss Ruth Stokes, known theatrically as Ruth Sterling, former Ziegfield Follies girl and model, is here from New York visiting with her parents, prominent residents of this city. Miss Stokes has been procured by Mr. Leavitt to put on the Fashion Show for Glendale's Industrial exhibit, and may appear herself wearing one of the famous this year's follies gowns of radium. She said today: "The Fashion Center of Glendale is truly what its name implies. Their clothes are the latest words from New York."

FICKLE FASHION MAKES SALES IN GRAY FOOTWEAR

Dame Fashion played a practical joke on the shoe dealer this season, according to W. C. Winkler of the Buster Brown Shoe company, at 122 North Brand boulevard.

"When the early summer styles were announced, it looked as if grey were going to be the popular color, but for some reason, biege has taken the place of grey, and the dealer who stocked heavily on grey at the first of the season will find that his stock will move slowly," Mr. Winkler stated.

He also announced that as far as he was able to learn, the Spanish heel is takin gthe place of the extremely high one, and that the low heel will also be popular this summer. The combination slipper or low shoe also is still considered good style, he stated.

GLENDALE ACTORS TO AID PASADENA AMATEURS

Dorothy and Kathleen Woods to Assit in "Caper of 1923"

"The Community Caper of 1923" will be the next offering of the Pasadena Community Players. It is a musical extravaganza which takes off things that have recently happened in the Crown City of the San Gabriel valley, much after the fashion of "The Follies," "The Passing Show" and other revues.

The book and lyrics for "The Community Caper" were written by Alfred Brand, while Raymond Mixsell composed the music. Both are well-known Pasadenans who have contributed notably to past successes of their community play house. Gilmor Brown is directing the production with the assistance of Eloise Sterling. The instrumental unit is in charge of Will Rounds, conductor of the community orchestra.

A large chorus of male and female voices is being drilled by Madame Harriet D. Packard; and Dorothy and Kathleen Woods of Glendale, formerly with the Marion Morgan Dancers, have charge of the terpsichorean numbers. The cast of fifty includes some of the foremost amateurs of Southern California. Among them are Samuel S. Hinds, Mrs. A. H. Palmer, George Reis, Lena Woodruff, W. E. Reis, Jr., George Judd, Rose Brizius, Elaine Mitchell, Robert Higginbotham and George Frost.

All Pasadena Community Players volunteer their services. The costumes are being made under the direction of Mrs. Rowena Eliot, Mrs. Gene French, Mrs. Allan Murphy, Elizabeth Sherk and Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane.

There will be seven performances of "The Community Caper" starting Monday night, May 14. Hereafter it will be an annual affair in the Pasandena community play house. The jazz scenery, giving a hectic view of Colorado street, is after the fashion of the Russian, as made popular in the Chauve-Souris, in New York this season.

As a matter of fact, your neighbors think just as disagreeable things about you as you think about them.
